Festival Ends With Grand Climax of Musical Interest

Victoria Ladies' Choir Wins Colonist Shield—Chown United Church Choir, Vancouver, Claims Jameson Shield—Miss Dorothy Hartree, Victoria, Awarded Rose Bowl

Fourth Annual Event Is Pronounced Best Yet

VICTORIA'S fourth music festival closed with a grand climax last evening, when capacity audiences at the Metropolitan United Church and the First United Church heard the surviving challengers in the long list of competitions which have filled the last five days with lively interest. At the Metropolitan Church, in the presence of an audience of over 1,300 people, Miss Dorothy Hartree was awarded the British Columbia Electric Company's Rose Bowl, and the Victoria Ladies' Choir, conducted by Mr. F. Waddington, received the Colonist Challenge Shield, offered to the winner of the ladies' choir competition. At First United Church, where about 1,000 people gathered, the Chown United Church Choir, of Vancouver, conducted by Burton Kurth, carried off the W. A. Jameson Coffee Company's Challenge Shield, formerly held by the First United Church Choir.

These events, each competitor in which had an enthusiastically partisan following, furnished features of intense interest, the large church choirs contest at the First United Church being such a strong drawing card that hundreds of people deserted the Metropolitan, the moment the ladies' choir contest was at an end in order that they might hear this equally interesting choral competition. But several other contests, of quite as great importance musically, although not involving quite the same group interest, were also decided at each auditorium in the course of the evening. At the Metropolitan Church the deciding of the winners of the 56, piano-forte duet for two pianos, was followed with an interest almost akin to suspense, the winners ultimately being announced as Evelyn Harper and Maquinn Daniels. At First Church three events of secondary interest were settled when Billie Ingels and Kenneth Cave were announced winners of Class 10, vocal duet; Elizabeth Rydner, of Class 7A, gold medalist in piano, and Winifred Johnson, Seattle, winner of Class 50, piano solo, open.

MAJOR TROPHIES
In the major trophies' classes the adjudicators exhibited the usual little difficulty in discriminating between some of the best competitors. The awarding of the Rose Bowl (Class 38) was a particularly delicate matter, and in this connection Dr. Hensley Willan injected some of his customary humor by stating that judging the respective merits of six voices of such continued on Page 6, Column 3

FIFTEEN ARE HURT DURING FIRE BATTLE

Firemen and Policemen Injured in Outbreak at McLennan, McFeely & Prior Warehouse

BUILDING IS BADLY DAMAGED

Loss Will Be About $250,000—Firemen Steps on Live Wire Amid Debris

VANCOUVER, May 10.—A spectacular fire, which broke out shortly after 5:30 o'clock this afternoon, practically destroyed the big warehouse of McLennan, McFeely & Prior, Limited, at the corner of Powell Street and Woodland Drive. A dozen firemen and three policemen were injured when ten fire companies battled for three hours at the fire.

The corrugated-iron-clad frame building was almost destroyed, and the damage, estimates said, will probably exceed $250,000. The building covered a solid block on Powell Street. No part of it was left untouched by the flames, and the whole central section crumbled before their advance.

MR. SCHWENGER'S CONFIDENT
The fire destroyed a portion of the stock, Mr. C. P. W. Schwenger, managing director, said late tonight. He added that it would not interfere with the company's business, and the firm would be able to give its usual service next week.

LIVE WIRES
The most difficult obstacle the firemen had to face was a multiplicity of live wires within the building. Although B.C. Electric line men cut some of the lines leading into the structure, they were not able to cut off all, and the structure remained "live." Heavy power lines ran through the length and breadth of the building to operate the lifting machinery.

FIREMEN HURT
One of the most serious injuries was received after the fire had come under control. Fireman Jack Potts, Continued on Page 2, Column 3

Italy Prepared for Tripartite Treaty With Naval Powers

(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)
ROME, May 10.—An unexpectedly cheerful and optimistic note was struck by Foreign Minister Dino Grandi when he declared before the Fascist Chamber of Deputies during the course of a report on the activities of the League of Nations Conference, that "Italy is ready to begin immediately negotiations with Great Britain and France for an additional conclusive tripartite naval treaty."

"Fascist Italy wants nothing more than to be able to progress with peaceful Europe," said Foreign Minister Grandi, "and she does not approve of the isolation policy, wholeheartedly taking part in world politics."

During the course of his one and three-quarters hour speech yesterday afternoon, the fiery young Italian Foreign Minister praised the work of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald in organizing the London conference.

Signor Grandi again took occasion to prove Italy's good intention by citing the fact that it had authorized him to accept the conference invitation the same day it was received.

Explosion In Cellar Kills Five

SEMINOLE, Okla., May 10.—The deaths of three children in hospital here tonight brought to five the number of dead in an explosion of gas in a storm cellar at Mission City, four miles southwest of here, late today.

Bonnie Edwards, seven, and her brother, Sonny Boy, five, and Dorothy Breedlove, eight, who were seriously injured in the blast which occurred as they were entering the cellar to escape a storm, were those who died tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Edwards, parents of Bonnie and Sonny Boy, were injured only slightly. They had started to enter the cellar when the explosion occurred.

The families lived in the same house and sought refuge in the cellar when they saw the storm approaching. As the children entered one of them lit a match and the explosion followed. Cause of the blast had not been determined.

No damage resulting directly from the storm was reported.

VANCOUVER, May 10.—Mr. Jacob Newman, manager of the B.C. Financial Corporation, dropped dead in his office, Dominion Building, at 11 a.m. today. Death was found to be due to natural causes.

Buildings Demolished By Tornado

HELENA, Ark., May 10.—Reports to The Helena World tonight said several buildings in Aubrey and Oak Forest, small communities about twenty-five miles northwest of here, were demolished tonight by a tornado.

All telephone lines were down, roads were impassable, and relief parties did not expect to reach the scene for several hours. No reports of loss of life were received.

MANY THOUSANDS IN CENTRAL HONAN ARE SLAIN BY BRIGANDS

Flames of Burning Villages Last for Four Days and Could Be Seen for Many Miles—Country-side Is Reduced to Desolation—Mutilated Bodies Are Flung Into Creeks or Left in Roadways

Fierce Warfare Between Rival Forces Waged on Two Frontiers

(Associated Press)
SHANGHAI, May 10.—Following previous dispatches reporting the massacre of 15,000 inhabitants of Unyuan, in Honan Province, April 23, other Chinese press dispatches today stated that bandit armies had destroyed 500 villages in Central Honan, the inhabitants being "murdered, kidnapped and outraged to unknown numbers, while the countryside was reduced to desolation."

Flames of the burning villages, it was said, lasted for four days and could be seen for many miles. Many of those kidnapped were murdered and their mutilated bodies flung into creeks or left in the roadways. The brigands were opposed by Nationalist Government troops, but only a few outlaws were killed. The notorious "Widow Chang" was believed to be the leader of a party of 200 brigands.

Three Men Open Fire on Crowd Of 600 Dancers

NEW YORK, May 10.—Three men opened fire on a crowd of 600 dancers in a West 48th Street Club early today, when they were refused admittance. Six persons were wounded.

The panic-stricken dancers rushed for cover. The gunmen backed out of the room, rushed down the stairs to the street and escaped.

Mr. Arthur Lindberg, twenty-seven, was wounded in the abdomen and was taken to Bellevue Hospital.

Police said the gunmen were notorious West Side "guerrillas," one of whom bore a grudge against some one at the dance. They did not reveal any names.

Returning from a party early today they quarreled, he said, and after entering Mrs. Riley's home she seized a revolver and ordered him into the back yard, saying: "It's time for you to say prayers." He stepped out and took flight but two shots fired by the widow took effect. Then she turned the gun on herself. At the General Hospital, where she underwent an operation for removal of the bullet, Mrs. Riley refused to talk.

ELECTORS MUST REREGISTER FOR POLLING

Great Change Is Introduced in Connection With Forthcoming Federal Election

HOUSE CANVASS IS FIRST STEP

The Federal election this Summer will be held upon a new system of preparing voters' lists throughout the Dominion. Under this system there will be fresh lists for the election, and everyone who is entitled to vote will have to go on the list for his district in order to exercise the franchise. The system is worked out by the appointment of returning officers throughout the Dominion as permanent officials. They are appointed and remain in office until removed or until they resign. As officials they are available for the duties of their office at any election, or by-election, which may be called.

When an election is called the returning officer appoints enumerators who go from house to house, and enter on the lists the names of those qualified to vote. This forms the basis for the list which is to be used on polling day.

When the precincts are enumerated the returning officer sends out group them ten or twelve at a time and name a registrar for each group. The registrar will sit for a period of three days at a time and place to be advertised. Voters placed in the house-to-house canvass have the right to appear before the registrar and demand registration.

The registrar, during his three-day sitting, will have the right to add names and receive objections to names already listed. These objections he turns over to the revising officer, a judge of the County Court, who will hold a final sitting at the Court House.

Each person to whom objection is registered will receive notice by registered mail, and it is incumbent on him or her to appear before the revising judge and show reason why his or her name should stand on the list. Failure to appear will mean elimination from the list. The revising officer also has the right to add names to the list. This is the last opportunity to claim the franchise.

The returning officer appointed by the Government for Victoria is Mr. H. E. A. Courtenay. At Nanaimo riding is in charge of Mr. Francis Simpson, of Saanich. Mr. P. L. Anderson, of Courtenay, is returning officer for Comox-Alberni.

from No. 6 hall, started back into the building after a new coat of paint started up from the tar paper, and he stepped on a live wire. He was shocked unconscious as 1,500 volts passed through his body. He is expected to recover, however.

While there will be heavy damage to the stock, much of the latter will be salvaged. It is principally sheet iron, bar iron and similar heavy goods. It is doubtful, however, if any portion of the building can be used again, the underwriters who witnessed the blaze stated.

CAUSE OF FIRE
Early investigation indicated that the fire probably started in the small basement storage-room in the centre of the building, and was carried through the heavy plank flooring to building material, such as tar-paper. It gained much headway before being reported.

A hen at Matfield, England, recently laid an egg weighing eight ounces and measuring twelve inches in circumference.

Chow and Suichow, each side claimed success for its troops. Dispatches, apparently from Northern sources, stated:

"The Northerners, fifty miles west of Suichow, shattered the Nationalist advance, annihilating one Nanking division, leaving the ground covered with dead. Disorder exists among the Nationalists, while the Northerners have taken many prisoners."

Chinese press dispatches, however, reported that the Nationalists' airplanes dropped bombs upon the rebels along the Lunghai Railway, inflicting terrible toll, while the "machine guns mowed down Nationalists." The Nationalists, admitting they had suffered heavy losses, asserted they had forced the Northerners to withdraw westward.

AERIAL BOMBARDMENT
The Government's aerial bombardment of Northern troops in China, said other dispatches, killed forty-seven civilians and wounded many others. Against this attack the rebels used anti-aircraft guns, occupying an executive post with Mrs. Whitty before acquiring the business. The policy of the new management will adhere strictly to the principle of ultra-hygienic methods. All branches of beauty culture, in addition to the very latest in hairdressing, will be practised.

Freer's Hairdressing Parlors, 740 Fort Street, has recently undergone a change of ownership, the establishment having been taken over by Mr. B. Waude from Mrs. Whitty, the previous proprietress. Mr. Waude has had many years' experience, occupying an executive post with Mrs. Whitty before acquiring the business. The policy of the new management will adhere strictly to the principle of ultra-hygienic methods. All branches of beauty culture, in addition to the very latest in hairdressing, will be practised.

On the western front from Hankow, the Nationalists were reported to have routed a rebel army along the Honan-Shensi provincial borders.

Parachute Drop Record of 20,400 Feet Is Claimed

AKRON, Ohio, May 10.—A world's commercial parachute drop record of 20,400 feet was claimed today by Mr. Karl B. Miller, of Canton, when he landed near Akron airport, thirty-five minutes after he leaped from a plane. The recognized record is 17,140 feet, made in Germany this year. Mr. Miller, making his one hundred and fifty-first jump, had a barograph strapped to him.

streets and burned while hanging from a tree in the negro districts. Hughes was left in the vault, where he had been placed for safety, when officers were driven from the Courthouse by the fire set by the mob yesterday afternoon. Several houses and buildings in the negro districts were fired by the angry crowd, but none of the residents were injured.

ARRESTS FOLLOW
Guardmen sent here from nearby cities on orders from Governor Dan Moody, arrested fifteen of the mob while it was racing through the negro settlement, and after day-break another man, on whom officers found a stick of dynamite, was taken into custody.

The prisoners were lodged in the county jail, around which 100 Guardmen were stationed. Later, after their names had been recorded, eleven were released. It was not determined what disposition of the case would be made. Officers said that no weapons of any kind were found on those arrested.

PLANS FOR EMERGENCY
At a meeting of county, city and military officials it was decided to keep the Guardmen here until there was no further fear of a renewal of the rioting. Arrangements were completed for removing records from groups of uniformed soldiers stationed at strategic points.

A check of hospitals revealed that none of the five youths injured during the rioting, and several Guardmen hurt in a clash with the crowd, was in a serious condition. Three of the Guardmen, whose homes are in Dallas, were taken to the hospital there.

SLANDER AND LIBEL
Describing the action of the mob at Sherman as "a slander and libel on the people of Texas," Governor Moody today issued a statement in which he declared that every power of the state would be brought to bear to seek out and punish the persons responsible for the rioting.

MARTIAL LAW
At Dallas, Governor Moody said that at 10:45 p.m. he signed the proclamation declaring a state of martial law in Sherman.

Col. J. E. McGee would remain in command.

PHILADELPHIA, May 10.—Mr. George Eastman, of the Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, N.Y., tonight was awarded the gold medal of the American Institute of Chemists. The medal is given annually for "noteworthy and outstanding service to the science of chemistry and the profession of chemists in America."

Dr. Frederick E. Briethart, president of the institute, in presenting the medal, paid high tribute to Eastman as a pioneer in the intelligent application of chemical research to practical business.

Kansas had some tornado disturbances late today. The wind tore through small buildings and wrecked the rigging on one gas well near Hugoton. Other wells were shut down because of swirling sand and strong winds.

Several buildings in Aubrey and Oak Forest, in all Arkansas communities, were reported demolished tonight by a tornado. No deaths were reported, but communication lines were down and rescue parties were not expected to reach the scene for several hours.

Akmulgee County, Okla., was swept this afternoon by a tornado that did considerable damage to farm property and crops but injuring none seriously. The area stricken is seven miles northwest of Bald Hill.

CAREER IN SHANGHAI
Upon leaving Oxford, Mr. Billings went to Singapore, where he took up an appointment under the Colonial Secretary. It was in the following year that he was offered a position as organizer of the first school in Shanghai to be originated for Chinese by the Sir Ellis Kadoorie Institution.

In the year 1910 Mr. Billings was on home leave in England, where he visited a number of schools and used the data thus gathered to assist Shanghai architects in the building of a large new school in Shanghai, which took the place of the old building. Under his direction much of the English public school spirit was instilled into the boys at this school, the attendance at which swelled from 111 to 400.

At the end of the year 1927 Mr. Billings sailed with his family for British Columbia to take up the position of headmaster of the University School here, which he held for two years.

He is firmly of the opinion that British Columbia and more particularly Vancouver Island, forms a splendid natural educational centre for Western Canada, and is convinced that there is great opportunity for developing the island in this direction in every type of school, both public and private.

Mr. Billings is a firm believer in the value of sports, holding that only one half of the benefits of education come out of the schoolroom, and it is expected that he will do everything possible to promote the love of clean, healthy games at the Oak Bay High School.

At the end of the year 1927 Mr. Billings sailed with his family for British Columbia to take up the position of headmaster of the University School here, which he held for two years.

He is firmly of the opinion that British Columbia and more particularly Vancouver Island, forms a splendid natural educational centre for Western Canada, and is convinced that there is great opportunity for developing the island in this direction in every type of school, both public and private.

Mr. Billings is a firm believer in the value of sports, holding that only one half of the benefits of education come out of the schoolroom, and it is expected that he will do everything possible to promote the love of clean, healthy games at the Oak Bay High School.

Kansas had some tornado disturbances late today. The wind tore through small buildings and wrecked the rigging on one gas well near Hugoton. Other wells were shut down because of swirling sand and strong winds.

BUILDINGS DEMOLISHED
Several buildings in Aubrey and Oak Forest, in all Arkansas communities, were reported demolished tonight by a tornado. No deaths were reported, but communication lines were down and rescue parties were not expected to reach the scene for several hours.

Akmulgee County, Okla., was swept this afternoon by a tornado that did considerable damage to farm property and crops but injuring none seriously. The area stricken is seven miles northwest of Bald Hill.

CAREER IN SHANGHAI
Upon leaving Oxford, Mr. Billings went to Singapore, where he took up an appointment under the Colonial Secretary. It was in the following year that he was offered a position as organizer of the first school in Shanghai to be originated for Chinese by the Sir Ellis Kadoorie Institution.

In the year 1910 Mr. Billings was on home leave in England, where he visited a number of schools and used the data thus gathered to assist Shanghai architects in the building of a large new school in Shanghai, which took the place of the old building. Under his direction much of the English public school spirit was instilled into the boys at this school, the attendance at which swelled from 111 to 400.

At the end of the year 1927 Mr. Billings sailed with his family for British Columbia to take up the position of headmaster of the University School here, which he held for two years.

FARMERS NOT DOWNHEARTED

The farmers of Canada and of the United States cannot change acquired habits so readily as certain politicians of both countries. The farmers of Western Canada and of the Western United States were told by their advisors that if they wanted to secure better, or stable, prices for their wheat and other products, they must sow less wheat and plant fewer other products; that they must by the adoption of passive measures force a balance between the law of supply and demand. The farmers are not doing that. They are too active in temperament and too diligent in disposition to do it. They are sowing as much seed as they ever did, and probably more. They are scanning the heavens quite as anxiously as their forefathers did in the hope of discovering symptoms of favorable weather and putting their trust in the Lord of the harvest.

And it is possible—for the farmers are but human—that they are reading the advice-givers' calculations are gathering about the prospects of the farmers in far-off countries, like Australia and Argentina, and hoping that the crops in those distant places may be a failure and that they may profit from the misfortune of their neighbors. The human family may be more closely related than it was in the days when there were no telegraphs, when there were no flying machines and when the methods of water and land transportation were primitive, but closer human relationships do not necessarily produce marked changes in human nature. The farmer, like the rest of us, can bear the misfortunes of his contemporaries with philosophical equanimity.

We are not so altruistic in disposition as to believe that if the advertised prospects of Russia as a wheat-producing country turned out to be just so much Communist propaganda that the farmers of America would don the sombre garb of mourning. If a political upheaval or a natural visitation in any other part of the world were to produce two-dollar wheat in America again, that would be bad for the part of the world adversely affected, but it would be good for the part of the world we are interested in. So the farmers of America are preparing for another harvest and hoping that it may be abundant. We are reading the reports of the seeding and of the prospects of the crops and rejoicing when the reports are favorable, for the prospects of general business in Canada are just as dependent as ever upon the prospects of the farmers gathering an abundant harvest.

DAYLIGHT NIGHTMARE

All things are possible. We did not believe it possible that there could be anything in the world worse than the music called jazz. We know better now, for yesterday morning we were serenaded by a musical instrument called a steam callopie. We believe it was Barnum, the Prince of Humbugs, who procured the construction of the first "steam piano" and called the atrocious thing a callopie. For that is what a callopie is: a steam piano or a steam organ; and by any other name it would play just as sweetly. Thus Barnum, who introduced one of the sweetest singers and sweetest personalities of all time to America, also gave the steam callopie to America. But a steam piano called by that name would not have been a great attraction to Barnum's circus, or "greatest show on earth," as the instrument of torture was called a callopie. Callopie, according to classical tradition, was the mother of Orpheus, and we wonder what the mother of all the times would have thought if she had been compelled to listen to the music of the steam callopie. We also wonder how Barnum, who was not a classical scholar, and could not have been a deep lover of music, for the musicians in the brass bands he carried with his circus along with the callopie were never finished performers upon their instruments, could have selected the name he gave his steam piano. But his bands made a great noise, and noise always attracts a great crowd. Another thing that puzzles us is how a man who had listened to Jenny Lind sing could have listened to the tooting of a callopie.

MORE HASTE, GREATER SPEED

Sometimes we think modern legislatures are like an ancient but learned king who "never said a foolish thing and never did a wise one," for legislatures sometimes enact foolish laws and repeal wise ones. The toll of death upon the highways is increasing, and we all wonder at it as we wonder at the increase of crime, and ask one another what shall be done about it. Crime is increasing because laws are not effectively enforced; death upon the highways is increasing because most of the legislatures have repealed the only law likely to be effective in preventing it.

The British Columbia Legislature had to follow the general example and repeal the law restricting speed limits, the only law in the least likely to keep the death rate upon the highways within reasonable limits. No speeder upon the highways under the new speed limit is exceeding the speed limits until he runs somebody down and either kills or mauls him. And even when he does those awful things the speeder can generally prove that the responsibility was not his but the fault of his victim. Under the new law drivers may be seen every day cutting the corners at rates of speed limited only by the natural law which enacts that if you exceed a certain rate of speed when making a turn your machine will turn over and take its toll of you or of somebody who happens to be within the radius of its action. War has been condemned by humanitarians because of its destruction of human lives. War has been defended by philosophical statisticians because it was necessary to keep the population of the world within the capacity of the earth to produce food to eat and clothes to wear. The yearly death toll of the speeding motor car exceeds the death toll of the wars we used to have and will soon at the present rate of increase exceed the death toll of most of the countries involved in the Great War.

That appears to be the price we are destined to pay for modern progress and modern rates of progression. And we are propounding all sorts of schemes, most of them futile, for the purpose of preventing accidents upon the highways and reducing the death rate thereon. Some of us are talking about placing governors upon the cars which will automatically limit the rate of speed as the governor upon the steam engine automatically shut off the supply of steam from the boiler when the wheels begin to revolve too fast for safety. That idea is of course preposterous, but it may be adopted and tried, for we are like children, and are prone to indulge in infantile experiments. The number of motor cars is increasing and the number of drivers who are young and eager for sensations is increasing. As long as there are no legal limits to the rates of speed, the capacity of the motor car for speed will be their limit and the menace upon the highways will be intensified. What are we going to do about it? We cannot expect the massed intelligence of legislatures to do anything about it; so the individual, as he values his life, must take the matter in his own hands and watch his step.

NEW POET LAUREATE

The appointment of John Masfield as poet laureate has an added interest to Canadians in that the now famous writer started on his literary career through the inspiration of a poem by a Canadian that appeared in a journal edited by another Canadian. It was in 1895 when Masfield was working as a porter in a New York saloon after years of roughing it on the sea that he happened to see in Peter MacArthur's journal, The New York Truth, "The Moving and Mystical" poem by Duncan Campbell Scott, entitled "The Piper of Aril."

That was the birth-hour of Masfield's spirit. A fire, long smouldering within, flashed into flame and the world-wandering Masfield became Masfield the poet. From this creative hour sprang his wonderful sea-songs, in which countless thousands, plagued with the like sea fever that burned within Masfield, have uttered their longing to "go down to the seas again, to the lonely sea and the sky."

"I must go down to the seas again, for the call of the running tide
Is a wild call and a clear call that may not be denied;
And all I seek is a windy day with the white clouds flying,
And the flung spray and the blown spume,
And the seagulls flying."

Ten years later, when he had achieved some fame and was preparing an anthology of sea verses, he wrote Scott warmly acknowledging indebtedness and requesting permission to include in the coming volume the poem that had awakened him. "You will therefore understand," he wrote, "how greatly I appreciate your kindness if you will allow me to include your poem in my anthology as the most beautiful sea poem of modern times, and the poem which moved me more than any that I have ever read." The charm that awakened the literary soul of the roving sailor breathes through Scott's verses from the very first line:

"There was an Aril little cove
Where the salt wind came cool and free;
A foamy beach that one would love,
If he were longing for the sea.
A brook hunk sparkling on the hill,
The hill swept far to ring the bay;
The bay was faithful, wild or still,
To the heart of the ocean far away."

It is a tribute to the creative power of Canadian verse and an additional link with England that it should have inspired the muse of the poet laureate.

WRITTEN IN A COPY OF RUPERT BROOKE'S "1914"

It is your jest I talk too much of death
On crowded earth or in the empty waste,
And draw weary sigh with every breath,
And think no bed so restful as the grave.

It is your jest that all my jests are grim,
And that my bubble has a skull for head,
And that my merriment would startle him
Whose task it is to terrify the dead.

Here are the verses of a youth who had
The whole world given on his birthday;
Yet would not stay to count his gifts, so glad
Was he to throw the glittering toy away.

I have not beauty, youth nor use. . . Then why
In Fortune's name, should I regret to die?

SEYMOUR NARROWS AUTO-MOBILE ROAD

Sir:—There are a number of important features connected with the above road that every one should familiarize themselves with—the urgency for the early construction of the connection, so as to link up with the trunk roads of the Mainland is highly important; the large quantity of fine land that will become available for settlement in a step in the right direction to afford the settlers on the nearby islands a means of egress by auto-trail either the Mainland, or to come this way will be a great advantage to those living on the islands of the Valdez group (Quadra); the expansion of trade on Vancouver Island, and an outlet of that sort especially for the tourist, who requires new fields for pleasure, is a matter we cannot overlook in the extension of the Island Highway, which the Government are now engaged in building towards the Narrows, will enable any one to motor within a short distance of Seymour Narrows (early in September). The Public Works Department are to be congratulated on the excellent work now being done in that direction, which we hope will soon be extended to Sayward, the district that has been the scene of the worst of an outlet; the linking up of Seymour Narrows with the Island Highway all points in the right direction, and much toward the realization of our hopes, and an early start on the bridging and road building that will make Vancouver Island, a part of the main continent, which is by far the most important undertaking confronting us, and one that should engage the attention of every resident on the Island. It will be the most perfect loop road on the Pacific Coast. I will give you some real up-to-date information, until such time as we should put anything in the way of bridging Seymour Narrows in the above view.

FESTIVAL DANCE COMPETITIONS

Sir:—I beg sufficient space in your paper for the following explanation of the competition in the recent public school dancing competition. At a meeting held several months ago, teachers were assured by representatives of the British Columbia Education Committee that entrants under items ninety and ninety-one—"Any Country Dance"—would be given carte blanche in their choice of dances. It was a national, country, or folk dance. It was then and there explained that the term "Any Country Dance" was to be interpreted in both its widest and its narrowest sense, and that the adjudicator would be so informed.

At the festival, however, on Friday afternoon, our junior group was disqualified on the grounds that the French minuet is not a folk dance, and we were very plainly told that our book such as we should advance to the stage where we were able to know a folk dance from other dances we could hardly hope for recognition.

Later in the afternoon our senior girls performed their barn dance. Now, whether or not this dance was a folk dance, it was a national, country, or folk dance, and I do not know the results. Our girls were awarded 100 marks (two marks more than any other competing group), but with twenty marks subtracted, this time because the barn dance cannot be considered a folk dance, the United States in light of the illuminating fact that a dance called the Virginia Reel has its origin more remotely in the past, and that, of course, we could hardly expect to have more than one dance from any one country.

The informative nature of these remarks was only exceeded by the intense surprise with which they were received, while at the same time various different dances from Ireland were being accepted at par, and without question. What could we do? Only comfort ourselves with the meagre satisfaction that we were not alone in our ignorance, knowing that the Encyclopaedia Britannica quotes the minuet as one of the world's oldest dances, and states that its origin as a rustic or folk dance is of exceptional antiquity—also that this same book states that Ireland has produced only one national dance, the jig.

I would like the following to be borne in mind:
1. The school entries had been received, formally accepted, and published in press and programme.
2. The girls were allowed to appear on the platform (?) after we had submitted, on paper, the name of each dance, the name and composer of the accompanying music, and the detail of every step in each dance.

3. We had been assured that such dancers would be accepted without question.
It may be asked: "Do we not teach our pupils to accept such disappointments without complaint?" Yes, we try to; but I would point out that the purpose of this letter is to justify, in the minds of the pupils, as well as of the public, the action of two earnest teachers who have enjoyed the fullest trust and faith of their pupils, and who are now publicly held up as lacking in sufficient perspicacity and acumen to learn what dance to teach before spending weeks of toil in teaching it.

endeavoring to make my criticism in some degree constructive, I now make bold to recommend to the Musical Festival Committee, that on future occasions, if there be entries from schools (and we hope there may still be some) they should consider the fact that even the adjudicators are not infallible, and that they are, after all, the well-paid employees of the committee. Thus they should be able to hold up their courage, even to the extent of telling their adjudicators just exactly on what bases

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily Colonist, May 11, 1880.)

An advertisement appears in another column inviting tenders for certain alterations and additions to the Naval Yard at Esquimalt. The improvements are to consist of the erection of a new building to be occupied as a workshop and carpenter's shop. There will also be other additions made. Plans for the new Tiger engine-house are invited.

they are to make their decisions. Such an action might, of course, ruffle the occasional sensitive soul, which must not be happened by sordid business details, but even this near-calamity would, I am sure, be by the satisfaction the committee would experience in the knowledge that it had kept faith with school teachers who are glad to have their pupils into an equal competition, but who do not wish to lead them forth as lambs to the slaughter.

May close with a sincere wish for the future success of the Festival Committee, and with congratulations to the winning competitors, whose dancing was a pleasure to all who witnessed it.

WILL YE NO' COME BACK AGAIN?

Sirs:—As manager of the Gordon Melod English Players, whose season is ending this week after a run of four months, I should like to express through your columns my personal thanks to the press and to all those who have been so helpful in giving me every assistance in obtaining the multitude of things required to stage in a proper manner all the different styles of play that the company have presented. This has been a somewhat arduous task, but has been made a pleasant one by the courtesy and willingness of all those to whom I have gone for help. My special thanks are due to David Spencer, Ltd., and to the staff in the department from which I have required goods. To Miss Napier and to Mr. Currie for all the beautiful flowers with which they have kept me supplied, and to all those who have lent special things. It has been by this pleasant co-operation of the people of Victoria that our stay here has been so pleasant for the company, and all of us very much regret that the time has come to go. But some members of the company have imperative calls to England, and as they cannot be replaced it is not possible to continue the season, and unfortunately attendances have not been of late very satisfactory. I personally have come to like Victoria and the many friends I have made so much that after a visit to Los Angeles for a short time, I am returning to live here permanently. I hope for all the travels I have made there are few places which have struck me as being more beautiful or more pleasant to live in.

C. MYDDLETON EVANS.

The following verses are dedicated to the players by a regular patron:
Alas! Alas! the times were dull,
Markus collapsed and people dull,
On every hand we heard the cry,
What a dull old world comes to us!
That question has been answered now,
The English Players came to town,
The world fleetly to us came,
And in a cosy stall sit down.
Troubles are left upon the mat,
For parted outside upon the street,
The world, its wife, and kids sit down,
And all enjoy a glorious treat.

For them the Ghost Train thunders by,
For them the Great War never ceases,
They meet the Wife-Hat Fever catch,
Of laugh and slivers set their fill.
They watch Miss Christine's tactful ways
As she sits in a chair so singular and rural,
Now she is a vamp of London Town,
Now she is a virtuous, suburban girl.
Now she is a coquette—completely dead
Of one whose past was dimly murky,
In private life she is a fond of dogs
And partial to a bit of turkey.
Then the Melod himself comes on
As butter, doctor, or detective,
Whatever he is he'll be to play,
You bet your boots 'twill be effective.

In Scotch his accent is stupor fit,
Our home-made hearts with pleasure trem,
We back again in dear Auld Ayr,
Stirling, Kilmarnock, Pilton, even.
And then there's Mr. James McGrath,
He is a bit of a saucy little fellow,
Though really he's not fierce at all,
And likes collecting postage stamps.
He never carries knives or guns,
But is a law-abiding fellow,
A fine example to his sons,
Because he doesn't even smoke.

While Mr. Evans at the door
Olives each a welcome hostess,
He says appropriate words to all,
Yet never seems to feel the strain.
We think of Bodkin and Gillatt,
Miss Blare, Miss Parter, and Miss West,
Claude Butler too, and Summerville,
And can't decide which one is best.
But now this riddle must be close,
So here's a health to every one,
Who worked so hard that we might have
Night after night of glorious fun.

We've all enjoyed each toppling show,
Your presence was indeed our gain,
And if you say you leave us soon,
Here's hoping you'll come back again.
A CONSECRATION
Not of the princes and prelates with periwigged charioteers
Riding triumphantly laured to lap
the fat of the years,
Rather the scorned—the rejected—the men hemmed in with the spears;
The men of the tattered battalion
which fights till it dies,
Dashed with the dust of the battle,
the din and the cries,
The men with the broken heads and the blood running into their eyes.

Not the ruler for me, but the raper,
the tramp of the road,
The slave with the sack on his shoulders pricked on with the goad,
The man with too weighty a burden,
too weary a load.

The sailor, the stoker of steamers,
the man with the clout,
The charwomen bent at the halllards putting a tune to the shout,
The drowsy man at the wheel and the tired look-out.

Mind be a handful of ashes, a mould of molasses,
Of the maimed, of the halt and the blind in the rain and the cold—
Of these shall my songs be fashioned, my tale be told. —Albert

PRESS PARTY VISITS OTTAWA

OTTAWA, Ont., May 10.—The party of New Zealand newspaper editors who arrived in the capital yesterday for a brief visit before proceeding to London, England, for the Imperial Conference, spent the morning gaining a closer insight into historic points of interest about the city.

MOTHER'S DAY

'Tis Mother's Day, and all the world,
On lustrous wings of love unfurled,
Sets forth, earth's dewy buds to bear,
Earth's tenderest thoughts in turn
to share.
But I no other tributes bring,
Save these that in blithe token sing
Of battles bravely fought and won,
Of burdens seasoned 'neath the sun.
Though fain would I no whit withhold
Did I possess full meed of gold,
Make mellow with heaven's blessed rays,
And usher her declining days,
Let others flaunt the beauteous
above,
Mine, but the meekest flower that blows
To tell in no less fond degree
What Mother's Day still means to me.

JEANNE VALDEZ,
Victoria, B.C., May 11, 1930.

MOTHER

With her in childhood's long enchanted days,
I walked through leafy lanes of heart's delight.
Each day we saw the sun's departing rays,
And then the starry vault of mystic night.
Her face was radiant in her hymns
of praise,
Like windows in the church whose mellow light
Tells of the boundless universe
above,
Of father's words and universal love,
Her ties of break in youth's effulgent day;
O'er seas on foreign shores afar we roam,
Long years go by, of hope no single ray.

Shines warmly through the portals
of her home,
Earth's last true friend, whose love
we'll never lose,
Waits always with her welcome
when we come,
While shallow loves like waves
upon the shore
Don't even our passing in their rear.

Through halcyon years the glamor'd
gall of gold
Winds to its end upon the desert
sand,
Gay youth has vanished, with our friends of old;
We stand alone upon a lonely
strand,
Ah! then we know, with hearts
grown chill and cold,
That God's carous lies in dear
Mother's hand,
And yearn each day when evening
clouds creep
To see her smile again and fall asleep.

The Rhyming Optimist

By Aline Michaels

A NIGHT IN SPRING
The moonbeams fling
Across the world their glory;
'Tis old world by day so hoary,
But now in moonlight splendor
Like Eden's garden, tender
With youth and all the rapture
Which youth alone can capture!
Through sweet Spring night
Red rose and white
Weave rapid delight;
Down all earth's highways lonely
Now gleaming moonlight only
Goes, shod in silver, lightly;
God clad in silver, brightly,
While south winds sing
What dreams you bring,
Oh, night in Spring!

GIRL GUIDES CARRY OFF TWO PRIZES

Adjudicator Has High Praise for First Class Exhibition in Folk Dancing Classes

GREAT INTEREST IN THE BAND CONTEST

Victoria Girls' Band Misses Winning United Travelers' Trophy by Single Point—Cornet Solo Praised

From the appropriate brightness of a sunny May afternoon spectators yesterday crowded into the Victoria High School gymnasium to see a splendid display of folk dances and national dances, the most inspiring part of which was, from the local standpoint, the winning by the Victoria Girl Guides of both the Radbourne Cup and the Elks' Shield, trophies offered in the national and adult folk dancing classes, and the award to the Violet Powkes' Studio of the Dance, Victoria, of the Davis & King Cup for folk dancing for contestants under seventeen years.

The contest was watched by about 1,000 spectators. Miss Aileen Stewart-Williams' two Girl Guide group exhibitions were among the best things the dance classes of the festival have offered, although the Mary Isdale dancers, of Vancouver, received one point more in their marking as winners of the Scottish national dance competition, Class 95. The English sword dance, "Sleights," with which the Victoria group won the Radbourne Cup, was pronounced by the adjudicator, Miss Taylor, to be one of the finest examples of unadorned folk dancing which she had seen here. This, in view of the rather embellished representations which were introduced by several of the competitors in the course of the two afternoons, was very high praise indeed. In each of the two classes in which the Girl Guides were winners (Class 98, national dance, open; and Class 97, adult folk dancing, open), they received 97 marks. The sole criticism which the adjudicator made in connection with the latter was that the social character of the dance had been missed by one dancer, who had ignored her partner as she went by. Otherwise the "true English folk dance style" was beautifully preserved.

Group of each contest had very close competition. In Class 96, from St. Louis College, which fell but a single point behind with a beautiful representation of the Irish jig; and in Class 97 from Mrs. M. A. Curwen's Shawanigan Lake dancers in the very same dance. The Old Mole. The little fault of holding the hands too high was noted as a criticism in this.

"A wonderful dance" was the adjudicator's pronouncement in connection with the sword dance with which the Mary Isdale dancers, of Vancouver, won the Scottish national dance event and the George McGregor Cup. The spirit and spontaneity of this was marvelously sustained, and the girls were given a great ovation as they left the floor. Less perfect in detail, chiefly because some of the steps introduced were not pure Scottish folk dance steps, but nevertheless one of the most fascinating events of the whole afternoon because of the naive animation and charm of the tiny couples, was the winning entry in Class 92, folk dancing for children under ten. The Kent Piano Company Cup offered as the prize for this went to the Mary Isdale dancers of Vancouver, who danced the Petronella.

"A perfectly delightful Scottish dance, but a little too difficult for that age, and the steps a little too much after the ballet style, although danced with delightful promptness," said the adjudicator of this.

Miss Violet Powkes' dancers took 91 marks with the Polish Mazurka, which they presented in the next group, Class 93. This, said the adjudicator, was truly Polish and truly folk dance.

BAND CONTEST

Great interest centred also in the first United Church during the afternoon, where school and service club orchestras and brass quartets were also adjudicated. Although it was a disappointment to many that the Victoria Girls' Band, which recently made its debut here, did not win the trophy offered by the United Travelers' Association, the justices of the award to the National Juvenile Band of Vancouver was generally conceded. A single point lay between them, the girls getting 174, the Vancouver juveniles, 175. Of the winning band's playing in the chief test piece, "Determination," the adjudicator said that the tone resources were good, but the alto slightly out of tune. The waits should have been a little more open. Of the Victoria Girls' Band, he said that their tonal equipment was good, and their playing of the soft parts commendable. The cornet solo was particularly praised in the (b) selection, "Determination," which was one of the pieces heard in the girls' band programme at the Crystal Garden on the night of their first public concert here.

STORIED PAST IS RECALLED

HISTORIC CARTRIDGE APPEALS TO PILGRIMS FROM DISTANT LANDS

Eucharistic Congress Is Sensible of Exceptional Surroundings

By CAMILLE LEMERCIER (Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News-Publishing Service)

CARTHAGE, Tunis, May 10.—To the pilgrims here for the thirtieth Eucharistic Congress of the Roman Catholic Church who are sensible of the glamour of ancient sites and who love reminiscences of the past, abandoned, devastated and half-buried Carthage offers an unparalleled charm.

Fifteen centuries of Pagan and Christian history are here inscribed on the soil of hills and plains, but some effort is necessary to see and understand those mementoes of bygone ages.

Many a visitor, even priests wearing long black gowns, have adopted the white sun helmet. Patiently reading guide books and consulting maps of the ruins, they try to locate the dead city's most famous spots.

They search for traces of the Carthaginian ports, whence Hannibal's fleets sailed to their legions, where Hasdrubal's wife threw herself and her children into the flames of the burning temple of the god Eshmon.

On the ruins of the amphitheatre—which was the greatest structure of its kind in the world—the pilgrims pray for St. Perpetua and St. Felicitas, who there were delivered up to beasts.

Thirty-two Councils of the Catholic Church have been held here and at the occasion of that which, in the year 411, brought the heresy of Donatius to an end, 565 bishops representing the whole Christian world, gathered in Carthage under the presidency of St. Augustine. Such antecedents explain the reverence which Roman Catholic devotees have come to African shores from the remotest parts of the world.

Mrs. Newlywed—What would you suggest for our literary club to read?

Mr. Newlywed—A good cookery book.

pletely different character and singing different solos was very much like returning to a concert and being asked to declare which of the singers one liked best. Each of these singers had won in his or her class, the heresy already marked by the adjudicator, so that now all that was left for them to do was to state which they preferred. Incidentally he expressed the view that the so-called "soprano" was, to his mind, more in the mezzo class, and the mezzo-soprano more in the soprano.

AT FIRST UNITED CHURCH

Mr. David Campbell gave two magnificent piano recitals, and Mr. John Waterhouse, who was accompanied at the piano by his wife, played two beautiful solos on the violin. Perhaps the most appreciated of these were Mr. Campbell's playing of Chopin's Ballade in G Minor, and Mr. Waterhouse's rendering of Caesar Franck's Sonata (first and second movements).

Those who were already present in their respective classes added to the programme as follows:

Class 80, elocution, primary, boys under ten years; (a) "Black-Webster's" "Felix"; (b) Walter de la Marr's "Some One"; George Little.

Class 26, quartette, S.S.A.A.; Thomas Morley's "What Saith My Dainty Darling"; Port Angeles High School.

Class 85, elocution, senior, girls under nineteen years; (a) Ellen Carter's "A Mountain Gateway"; (b) Margaret Vandegrift's "A Culprit"; Miss Lorna Coton.

Class 78, junior bands, players under eighteen years of age. National Juvenile Band, Vancouver.

Class 14, vocal solo, girls under thirteen years; E. Godard's "The Song of Florian" (key D). Miss Verna de Macedo.

Class 50, rowing, rowing competition; Miss Dorothy Hartree, who was also winner of Class 34.

Class 39, vocal solo, open, singer playing own accompaniment; Mrs. T. M. Anderson.

SHRINERS PLAN WATER EXCURSION

Propose to Visit Port Angeles Next Saturday as Guests of Nile Temple, Seattle

Taking advantage of the fact that the C.P.R. Social and Athletic Club has an excursion arranged for Saturday afternoon to Port Angeles, the members of Gizeh Temple, A.A.O.N.M.S., who have accepted an invitation of Nile Temple, Seattle, Potentate Paul H. Watt, to attend a ceremonial in Port Angeles, will travel by the same steamer. This vessel will leave at 1:30 o'clock, and return at 9:30 o'clock, the time of return being re-arranged to meet the requirements of the Shriner.

To meet the party will come a caravan by road, about 250 in numbers, from Seattle. This will include the patrol, chanters and band. A program of entertainment is being provided for the visitors, and the Gizeh Temple Potentate, Mr. W. O. Wallace, appeals to the nobility of the shrine to attend.

To Draft Jurors for Special Assize Court

Sheriff H. W. Goggin will draft jurors for the Grand Jury and petit jurors at the forthcoming special Assizes, and has given notice of attendance for that purpose in the office of the registrar of the Supreme Court on Thursday, May 15.

Cases set for trial at that Assize are those of Broderston, who is charged with murder, and of B. E. Wallis and others joined with him in charges of conspiracy to defraud.

Two Antipodean Commissioners—Within a brief period the Australian and New Zealand trade commissioners to Canada will arrive here.

Mr. J. W. Collins, who is to open the consular office for New Zealand in Canada, has reached San Francisco, and will come here shortly.

On May 30, Mr. L. R. McGregor, successor to Mr. R. A. Haynes, as Australian commissioner, is due on the liner Niagara.

Coming From Sweden—Mr. Ernst Wickstrom, of the Swedish consular service and organizer of the Fur Breeders' Association of Sweden, is expected here some time this Summer.

Fur farming was taken up by the Swedish Government three years ago, and since that time a large number of silver foxes have been purchased from Canadian breeders.

The purpose of Mr. Wickstrom's visit will be to investigate possibilities of raising other fur-bearing animals native to Canada.

Inspection at Salt Spring—Mr. James H. Hallon, vice-president and general manager; Mr. A. H. Lemmon, chief engineer; Mr. N. J. Dunlop, plant superintendent, Victoria, and Mr. F. F. Paterson, district commercial superintendent, Victoria, paid a visit to Salt Spring Island on Friday on B.C. Telephone Company business, and later proceeded to Mayne Island to see the repeater station of the company installed in connection with the new cable from Victoria to Vancouver, shortly to be brought into operation.

Yakima Conductor Former Resident—The Yakima Little Symphony Orchestra's victory in its class at the Musical Festival yesterday afternoon brought to light an interesting reminiscence of its conductor, Mr. A. P. Freimuth, who has been a resident of that district since 1917.

From 1895 to 1897 he was a member of the orchestra in the Royal Theatre here, and after a period in the Yukon, in Vancouver and elsewhere, he settled in the city of Washington, in Yakima, where he makes his home.

Dinner Dance Held by Dentists At Empress

The last of the social functions held during the week in connection with the British Columbia Dental Convention took the form of a dinner dance at the Empress Hotel last evening, about 150 members, and their wives and friends, being present. The tables were prettily arranged with pink tulips, and colored balloons added a festive air to the proceedings. His Worship the Mayor and Mrs. Anacomb were present, and the newly-elected president, Mr. W. J. Gibson and Mrs.
Gibson were among the guests.

During the evening four-year-old Miriam Schwabe delighted the guests with her clever tap dancing, giving as an encore the "Buck and Wing" dance. Miss Cooke played her accompaniments. Mr. Roland Gillet, of the Gordon McLeod Players, gave two turns, one being his own composition, "You Never Said Yes, You Never Said No to Me," and the other a very amusing Political Address, which was enthusiastically applauded. Mr. Claude
Bailey, also of the McLeod Players,

Laugh," "When the Curtain Falls," and "Hill by the Sea."

A first-class musical programme liver the brief address of the evening.

To Sing Tonight

time before leaving for Banff, where she will spend the Summer season.

Fashion Fancies

By Marie Belmont

After dark this season you may be regal or ruffled, winsome or worldly. If you choose to be regal, your gown will be very, very formal and will have a train. For an, less formal occasion it will be long; in fact, angle-length, but it must be even all around. The uneven hem-line is not seen any more in the smallest presentations of new evening gowns.

Sheer chiffons, laces and heavy georgettes are the favored fabrics for Spring and Summer evening frocks. Nets are less important, flat crepes are still good, and satin and marocain are being shown by some of the more exclusive shops.

A.d. of course, the formal wardrobe must include one gay frock of printed chiffon. Prints have never been so attractive or so fashionable.
Sketches today is an evening frock of exquisite charm developed of printed chiffon in a pastel shade.
Particularly distinctive is the draped treatment of the decolletage, which exposes the back in a clever peek-a-boo manner. Pleated black net, cut fan-shape, is scattered over the full skirt in butterfly fashion. The neckline is moulded and fitted.

Action Against H. S. Shannon & Company in Calgary Taken by Alberta Attorney-General

ISSUE WARRANT FOR ARREST OF MANAGER

(Canadian Press)
CALGARY, May 10.—The offices of H. S. Shannon & Company in Calgary were closed on Saturday morning by Mr. J. J. Frawley, acting for the Alberta attorney-general's department, and a warrant was issued for the arrest of Mr. W. I. Wolfe, manager of the local company, under Section 231 of the Criminal Code on the charge of operating a bucket shop.

As a result of the investigations which have been carried on for some time, the doors were locked and top orders were served on the stock exchange and the bank. The books, documents and securities in the company's Calgary office were sequestered and locked up under Mr. Frawley's instructions, and steps have been taken for the preservation of the records and securities of the company and its associate companies in Winnipeg and Toronto.

Disclosures which followed investigations by the attorney-general's department, under the Securities Fraud Prevention Act, according to Mr. Frawley, led to the decision to close the Shannon office, and after consultation with Mr. A. L. Smith, K.C., Crown prosecutor; Mr. MacLeod Sinclair, K.C.; Mr. J. McKenley Cameron, K.C., and Mr. Kenneth J. Morrison, chartered accountant of the firm of Harvey & Morrison, and himself, it had been decided to prefer charges against Mr. Wolfe under the Criminal Code.

At the office of the company, it was stated that the books had been seized and an assignment of the company's affairs would be made on Monday.

Mr. Harold Riley, manager of the Calgary Stock Exchange, declared that there had been no trading on the floor of the exchange Saturday by the traders of H. S. Shannon & Company.

"We received orders from the attorney-general's department to close up settlements and these orders have been complied with," he said.

Developments in Bond Market for Week Notable

(Stratton, Brown & Co. Ltd.)
TORONTO, May 9.—A notable development of the week in the Canadian bond market is the call made by the city of Toronto for orders on $13,396,000; 10, 15 and 20-year serial installment debentures. Tenders will be opened May 14, Toronto. The debentures will be payable in Toronto, New York and London, England, at the option of the holder. Interest coupons are payable half-yearly, from 1931 to 1950, inclusive. The approximate average maturity is 36 years. These debentures are issued to finance the Toronto hydro-electric system and local improvement services. Engraved debentures will be ready for delivery June 2 in Toronto or New York, as desired.

Another outstanding feature of the week was the offering of $2,500,000 6 per cent series "A" first mortgage sinking fund gold bonds of Canadian Copper Refineries, Limited. The bonds are guaranteed unconditionally by Noranda Mines, Limited. The reception accorded this issue has been favorable, purchases in a considerable scale having been reported, not only for Canadian but New York and London account. The guarantee by Noranda serves to lend bond holders sound protection. Noranda's net earnings last year were $4,287,173, and it is estimated that Noranda will earn $8,000,000 net this year, provided the price of copper averages not less than 14 cents per pound. The annual interest charges on the Canadian Copper Refineries, Limited, bonds amount to $150,000. On its own account Canadian Copper Refineries will have a refining capacity of 75,000 tons annually, made to provide for operation of and arrangements have already been made to supply 80 per cent of capacity. Reductions in principal central bank rates last week had a stimulating effect on bond prices. This was evidence of the current ease in money conditions at a time when investors are inclined to buy bonds. Prevailing uncertainty in the stock market is a factor in strengthening the bond market.

AUDIT OF BOOKS OF CITY RELIEF DEPT. COMMENCES

VANCOUVER, May 10.—Auditors of the firm of Hewitt, MacLellan & Company started today their examination of the books of the city relief department. Their inspection will trace records as far back as five years and deal particularly with the disposal of meat tickets to relief workers. Meanwhile the stage is set for the opening of a public inquiry by a select committee, headed by the mayor, at the city hall Monday morning.

Monday's session will be in the nature of a preliminary hearing. Auditors and members of the relief department will be called as witnesses. Then the inquiry will adjourn until the independent auditors report their findings to the committee. It is expected that the audit will occupy three weeks.

Brine Freezing

COLD STORAGE NO. 4

By H. G. BROWN, President of the Victoria Cold Storage and Terminal Warehouse Company, Limited.

Last week we explained briefly why the latest system of rapid brine freezing was superior to "filing" and "air freezing," and promised an explanation of the brine system, and the reason that the brine did not penetrate the article frozen. For purposes of explanation we will assume that the article to be frozen is fish.

Brine freezing consists in immersing the fish in a brine solution at a very low temperature. The more rapidly an article is frozen the better, for then the water does not have time to diffuse, and any ice crystals found are so small as not to penetrate or deteriorate the tissue. In extremely rapid brine freezing, such as the "Olsen" system, no crystals are found.

Low temperature is the real preservative, and it has been demonstrated that fish will freeze in circulating cold brine fifteen to thirty times as fast as air at the same temperature. If we can imagine ourselves walking along the street when the air is at five below zero and then falling into a tank of brine at the same temperature, we get a vivid idea of the difference between air freezing and brine freezing. The rapidity of the "Olsen" process causes the juices of fish to set like jelly, and this interferes with the formation of ice crystals which are injurious to the tissues.

Another effect of brine freezing is that it sterilizes the surface of the fish, which is greatly to be desired. A British bacteriologist has shown that the application of a strong cold brine has the effect of washing off and destroying the bacterial flora from the surface of the fish, resulting in greatly improved keeping qualities.

To anyone not familiar with the science of brine freezing, the question arises: "Does the brine penetrate the article frozen?" The answer is "No." A full scientific explanation would take time and space, but it can be explained here that brines of different concentrations behave in different ways. The rapid brine freezing takes place on the "ice curve," that is, in brine of such temperature that ice is separating from it, and in this condition the fish can be immersed in the brine solution without penetration of salt. If any reader is interested to go further into the scientific explanation, we will be glad to supply the data.

"Drink," said the Irish preacher, "is the greatest curse of the country. It makes ye quarrel with yer neighbors. It makes ye shoot at yer landlord. And it makes ye miss him."

HOW THIS ARTISTS' MODEL KEEPS FIT AND PRETTY

Says "Thank you,
Kruschen, for my clear, bright eyes"

She is a busy mother—with all the work and worry and responsibility of four youngsters—but her clear, bright eyes and fresh, girlish complexion make her in constant demand as a model. How is it possible? Her letter explains. She simply trusts her health to Kruschen's hands. Kruschen keeps her young and fit. That's the secret of the whole matter.

"I am a mother of four children, and although I am kept busy I always feel fit. People ask me why I keep so young and why my complexion is so fresh. I tell them all to try Kruschen Salts. I am a model also for many advertising firms, and thank Kruschen for my clear, bright eyes."

Don't be content to envy her. Follow her example. Kruschen will keep you young just as it keeps her. The little daily dose keeps you young inside; you wake up every morning as fresh and fit as a schoolgirl, and before the first minute is out the wonderful difference is written in your complexion and your eyes. Thousands are proving this daily. Why shouldn't you?

It is sometimes suggested that single salts, like Epsom and Glauber are the same as Kruschen Salts. This is not so. No single salt can do what the six salts in Kruschen do. No single salt is as pure as Kruschen is. The standard of purity in Kruschen Salts is much higher than the high official standard laid down by the British Pharmacopoeia. To maintain this extraordinary high standard, every single batch of the six mineral salts used in Kruschen is tested with exacting care by a staff of four expert chemists who spend their whole time on this work. They are guided by a full chemical of international reputation who is retained in an advisory capacity. In this way, Kruschen gets the world's standard for purity for medicinal salts.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores and at the Kruschen Salts Co., Ltd., 1740, Broadway, New York, N.Y. Importers: McMillan & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

INDIANS STARVING, REPORT INTIMATES

The Pas Learns 150 Indians in Manitoba in Bad Shape—Dept.
Unaware of Situation

(Canadian Press)
THE PAS, Man., May 10.—According to word brought to The Pas today, a settlement of about one hundred and fifty Indians are on the verge of starvation in the York Factory area of Northern Manitoba. Scarcity of wild animals this season, making recent hunting parties almost futile, is blamed for the situation. York Factory is located at the mouth of the Hayes River, on Hudson Bay, about twenty miles from Port Nelson.

It is reported that the Indians are already breaking in on the reserve supplies held in case of severe illness among the natives. It is expected that the Government will be asked to purchase emergency rations to tide the Indians over temporarily.

W. G. Tweedell, Indian agent here, would make no statement, pointing out that York Factory does not lie within his jurisdiction.

WINNIPEG, Man., May 10.—Reports of threatened starvation among Indians in the York Factory country of Northern Manitoba have reached the Department of Indian Affairs at Winnipeg. It was stated today. Routine shipment of annual supplies to the York Factory and Churchill areas is being arranged at present, but no reason for alarm has been noted.

Arrangements are now practically complete for the annual reunion of the ex-members of the 88th Battalion, C.E.F., which will be held in the Chamber of Commerce on Friday, May 23, at 7 o'clock. This reunion is strictly for ex-members of the 88th Battalion with one exception, that is for the next of kin to any ex-member. Tickets for the function may be secured from Comrade T. James, at the Jones Service Station, or from Comrade George Turner, Campbell Building.

Think Dead Man Is Former Mayor Of Stratford, Ont.

STRATFORD, Ont., May 10.—A telegram received here from the American consul today states a man named "Tom Brown," wearing Stratford-made clothes, died in Mexico City yesterday from heart failure.

It is believed here the man is Mr. Brown, former mayor and alderman of this city, who disappeared last New Year's eve, leaving shortages in his accounts totaling many hundreds of thousands of dollars. He was a lawyer by profession and many people in this district had entrusted their life savings to his care.

Mr. Brown's relatives have decided to have the body brought back to Canada for funeral services and burial.

DAYLIGHT ROBBER SOUGHT BY POLICE

City and Island-Wide Search for Man Who Stole $700 in Cash and Larger Amount in Cheques

The reported theft of $700 in currency and a larger amount in cheques on Douglas Street at 12:30 o'clock noon (Friday) has resulted in a city and island-wide search being instituted by local police, who have the case in hand. An envelope containing the money was snatched from the hand of a girl messenger from the St. Joseph's Hospital, as she was on her way to deposit it in a bank.

As the girl was about to ascend the steps, the unknown thief snatched the envelope and made a speedy getaway in the street. The robbery was reported to the bank teller, who immediately telephoned the police. Deputy Chief Harry J. O'Leary and Detective Marcus Phillips responded.

The robbery is one of the most daring carried out in Victoria for many years. Performed in the heart of the city during the noon-time rush, it was the first event of this nature to be carried out here for a long time.

Nearly 250,000 persons were employed in England's motor industry last year.

Edmonton to Honor Canadian Aviators

EDMONTON, Alta., May 10.—Edmonton will show its appreciation of the honor which Captain W. R. "Wop" May and C. H. Dickinson, famous flyers, who won the McKee trophy in 1929 and 1928, respectively, have brought to this city, by tendering the famous pilots and attending a public banquet on Monday evening, followed by a parade and presentation at the Parliament buildings.

On Friday, Mr. Eckman will leave here for Ketchikan, carrying Mr. G. W. Siskner, Mr. and Mrs. Hilbert, Mr. Cummings and Mr. M. Crane. On the plane's return it will enter regular service between here and Seattle.

Yesterday the Seattle route was After signing the contempt order, Judge Barnes signed another order to commit Grebstein to jail until further notice. Grebstein was arrested later.

A loose log felled him, causing fatal injuries. He was put on a launch but died before reaching the head of the lake. He is believed to have a sister living in Vancouver. His age is twenty-six and has been employed there only four or five days.

ABILITY TO PAY WILL BE NEW POLICY

Dr. Tolmie hopes that the relief that is now being afforded will have the effect of making the fruit growers much better satisfied with their lot and will prove an incentive to action in the line of industry in which they are engaged.

TO HAVE REPRESENTATIVE

In connection with the proposition there are details to be worked out. It is the intention to have a general representative of the Government located in the fruit growing district to co-operate with the growers in arriving at the ability to pay. This official will be required to provide for the gathering of the data during the season, so that the proper amounts to be levied each year may be determined in time to allow for the collections being made without delay.

There is said to have been a general agreement on the part of the fruit growers of the interior in favor of this plan of Mr. Evans, which has been adopted also in some of the United States projects of a similar character.

Mr. W. F. Kennedy, member of the Legislature for North Okanagan, is in the city at present. He says that the growers are agreeable to the plan as the best basis offering upon which to make payments for irrigation connected with fruit growing. He accepted the announcement of the Government with the greatest satisfaction, having come to Victoria largely for the purpose of urging early decision.

RECOMMENDS CHANGE

In making his report upon the first sections of the subject into which he was commissioned to inquire, Mr. Evans went on record as reaching the conclusion that the existing financial plan and system of levies were unsuitable to the conditions. He was of the opinion, after his investigations, that if the existing system were pursued many of the land holders would be dealt with very hardly.

He found the situation complicated. There were differences in the various districts affected, and it was impossible to arrive at a reduction which would be applicable in fairness to all. There were certain lands which were at present making a profitable use of the water and which could afford to contribute to the cost. There were other lands which could be brought into profitable production and the profitability of all lands thus increased provided certain things were done and the ability to pay should expand in the future. A third requirement, which he found was that the districts needed more money to improve the general position, and in many instances to maintain the present standard.

Mr. Evans came to the conclusion that if the simple expedient of complete remission of the charges was not to be resorted to by the Gov-

UNITED CHURCH IS ADVANCING

Members, Givings, Property and Ministers' Salaries Show Substantial Increases

GAIN OF 50,000 IN FIVE YEARS

Increases in membership, in money collected for all purposes, in ministers' salaries and in value of congregational property is shown in the report on statistical records of the United Church of Canada, tabled Tuesday in Toronto before the executive committee by Rev. Dr. T. Albert Moore, secretary.

Arrears in ministers' salaries have decreased, but the debt on property has grown, as has insurance. The report covers the period from November 31, 1929, to November 31, 1929.

Figures for the period show a growth from 600,322 members in 1925 to 650,945, in 1929. In every province but Manitoba a substantial increase is noted. In Manitoba reports a decrease of 692. Money raised for all purposes has gone up from $16,713,563 in 1928 to $18,829,145 in 1929. The total was $16,968,243 in 1925-26, which was a financial year of more than twelve months.

Ministers' salaries have increased in the aggregate from $4,536,981 in 1925-26, to $5,348,276 in 1929, a net gain of $811,965. Arrears in ministers' salaries have decreased from $103,922 five years ago to $62,680 for 1929. Value of congregational property has grown from $76,738,136 to $90,685,095 in five years. Debt on property has grown from $7,108,780 to $8,477,260, and $36,396,268 of insurance has grown to $44,012,134 since 1925.

MINISTERS WILL OBSERVE PENTECOST

Series of Services Will Be Held During Week Preceding Whitsunday

Associating themselves with the widely extended celebration of the 1900th anniversary of Pentecost and the beginnings of the Christian Church, the members of the Ministerial Association are planning a series of services to be held during the week preceding June 8, of Whitsunday, which is the universal day of Pentecost throughout the Christian Church.

There will be a laymen's service at each noon hour from Monday, June 2, to Friday, June 6, to be held in St. Andrew's schoolroom from 12:30 to 1:30. This meeting will be largely one of prayer and will be conducted by laymen. Each evening of these days a public service will take place at which one of the city ministers will give an address. All of these meetings will be convened in St. Andrew's Church, except that of Friday, which will be held in the Tabernacle of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, Yates Street.

The observance of the period of Pentecost by the nonliturgical churches is something of a departure from their tradition, but it is pointed out by the promoters of the proposed gatherings that the culmination of nineteen centuries of Christianity is of special significance. Most of the communions, more particularly in Canada and the United States, have been concentrating upon the present year with religious exercises leading up to the Pentecost period.

Theosophical Society

On Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the Jones Building, Fort Street, the Victoria Independent Theosophical Society will hold a public meeting and will continue the study of "The Ocean of Theosophy." The public is invited to join in the open discussion of the subject.

The pastor of the Pentecostal Assembly will give a message today at 11 a.m. on "The Secret of Job's Deliverance," when the blessing of humility will be the theme. In the evening at 7:30 a stirring evangelistic appeal will be given on the subject, "Refuge in the Rock." Bright singing and orchestral music will be a feature of the services.

Burgess Bedtime Stories

So Near and Yet So Far
—By THORNTON W. BURGESS

It sounds absurd, yet it is clear. We may be far and yet be near.

—Mrs. Quack.

Mrs. Quack had fooled Uncle Billy Possum very nicely that night when he had discovered her in the Smiling Pool. She had slipped away into the blackest of the Black Shadows, where the Laughing Brook leaves the Smiling Pool, and had hidden between two tussocks of grass. She had guessed that Uncle Billy would take it for granted that her nest was in that direction. You know, that is just what Uncle Billy had done and had gone off down the Laughing Brook, looking for Mrs. Quack and her nest. Meanwhile, Mrs. Quack had crossed the Smiling Pool and gone to her nest in the little swamp on the other side.

Mrs. Quack chuckled as she settled herself on those beautiful eggs. When she had left them to go to something to eat, she had carefully covered them with the soft feathers with which her nest was lined—feathers she had pulled from her own breast. Now she had carefully uncovered them before settling herself on them.

Through she was chuckling, Mrs. Quack was somewhat worried. "As if there were not enough enemies around here without Uncle Billy Possum taking it into his head to come down here," said she. "That old rascal loves eggs and now that he has seen me, he won't be able to get eggs out of his head. A hell think eggs and dream eggs and spend a good part of his time hunting for eggs. That is what he is doing right now. I know it just as well as if I were down there watching him. Well, I just fooled him once and I guess I can fool him again when he comes around; for come around he will. He'll come up this way on his way back to the Green Forest."

Mrs. Quack was quite right. It was also about right that the next evening that Uncle Billy reached that little swamp. It had been too light for him to wait over there on the bank of the Smiling Pool for Mrs. Quack to come and get her dinner, so he had decided to hide in that little swamp until it got darker. While he was there he went poking about this way and that way. It is a habit with Uncle Billy Possum to poke about this way and that way. He finds many things to eat.

MR. BENNETT ASKS UNITY OF ACTION

very necessities of life which we touch upon the budget, Mr. Bennett continued: "Mr. Dunning, the Minister of Finance, arose in the House of Commons on May 1 and intimated that, like Saul of Tarsus, he had seen the light and become the apostle. That was divine intervention. But such was not the case the other day. All that was shown the other day was the love for office and power."

LIBERAL DOCTRINE

He proceeded: "Is there a Liberal here who does not think he was betrayed?" For five years the Government had been preaching a doctrine which meant no effort to maintain Canadian markets for Canadians, Mr. Bennett said.

Were the Liberals for these years following the right path or not? he continued. "Whenever Mr. Bennett interjected, 'you have a convert who does something he has not been brought up to do, he always makes a mess of it.'"

The opportunities of Canadians for the future, Mr. Bennett said, were to a large extent influenced by the legislation passed by the Parliament at Ottawa.

"Legislation passed at Ottawa," he exclaimed, "affected the lives of the nine provinces of the Dominion. There are tariff, trade and commerce, development and agriculture."

Agriculture, the Conservative leader interjected, was the great basic industry of this country. "There is the matter also," Mr. Bennett went on, "of placing industry where they can face the future with certainty and if we do this we build homes in Canada, give employment to our boys and girls, and keep our boys and girls in Canada."

Rudy Vallee's Stein Song Has Musical History

Nathaniel Shilkret will give his version of how Rudy Vallee's famous "Stein Song," now sweeping the country, should be played when it is performed on the Kodak Week-End programme to be heard on Friday evening, 5:30 to 6, over an extensive N.B.C. network.

Many stories have come out in connection with the rise of this song to popularity. A favorite one now going the rounds is that the song, gathering dust for years on the shelves of the publishers, was to be turned back to the University of Maine. As in all such cases, a fee of $50 to cover the cost of plates was to be paid the publisher. The matter hung fire for some time, and finally the university said the song wasn't worth that to them. Wonder how many times $50 the total sales have gone since?

Homes of Beauty & Comfort

Stanton Becomes Owner's Pride as Attractive Home

Exterior Lines of This Six-Roomed Dwelling Will Readily Secure Support Among Prospective Owners of Medium-Sized Residences—Living Quarters Are Attractive

Interior Floor Plans Are All Carefully Designed

THE attractive appearance of the exterior lines of the Stanton will appeal to all lovers of home life. The white concrete chimney, the sharp slope of the vestibule roof, the rich hued shingle siding, all combine to make this little home a most attractive one. The Stanton is 29 feet by 26 feet in dimensions, suitable for the ordinary and medium sized building lot. Handsome as the exterior may be, the interior is equally creditable. This small house contains six rooms, bath and breakfast nook. Home builders will find much in this house to meet their approval. Two bedrooms and bath are found on the second floor, while below are the four remaining rooms the breakfast nook and a lavatory. The floor layouts are convenient, as will be noted from an examination of the plans in an adjacent column.

The Stanton has actually been constructed. The illustration is a photograph of this carefully planned home. It was selected for this series because it embodies in it those attributes that make it truly a home of beauty and comfort.

The cost of the building is not excessive. The family in moderate circumstances will find it within their means. No actual figures can be given, as the final cost will depend on the taste and richness of the accessories and the selection of millwork and plumbing.

ATTRACTIVE LIVING QUARTERS
Entering through the arched doorway with its batten doors and small leaded glass window, the living room is revealed. This is a comfortable sized room, sixteen feet three inches long by eleven feet nine inches wide. A brick fireplace dominates the rear side of the room.

At the front beside the fireplace is an opening filled with two units of casement windows; at the side of the room are three openings, each containing two units of windows of the same type. Casement windows are often favored for living room as the entire opening can be swung inward, so that during the summer months the occupants of the room have the feeling that they are out of doors. Ample ventilation and a flood of natural light always come with casements. Numerous side wall electric lighting fixtures give abundant artificial illumination and add to the decorative value of the room.

DINING ROOM
The dining-room is also at the front of the house, being separated from the living-room by a plaster arch. Cross ventilation is afforded by a group of casements at front and side. Bright, cheerful dining-rooms always make an appeal to the home-lover. The owner of the Stanton will never be disappointed on this score.

To the rear is the kitchen, seven feet three inches wide and twelve feet nine inches long. It is equipped with a number of built-in conveniences which aid the housewife at her work. To the rear, separated by a plaster arch, is an alcove where is located the breakfast nook.

CENTRAL HALL
Immediately to the rear of the living-room is the bedroom and central hall, which contains the staircase leading to the floor above. A lavatory with a siphon jet closet and a wash bowl are located off this central hall. A linen closet with numerous shelves is also found here.

The sleeping chamber on the first floor is often desirable, as some members of the family prefer to sleep on the ground floor rather than above. The room is favored with cross ventilation, assuring comfort during summer months when a breeze is desired.

SECOND FLOOR
Two rooms and a bath are located on the second floor. One of these rooms is approximately ten feet square, while the other is ten feet by thirteen feet three inches. Two large double hung windows light each of the rooms. To the rear is the bath room, equipped with a built-in tub, pedestal lavatory and a siphon jet closet with low tank.

BASEMENT FULLY EXCAVATED
The hot air furnace in the basement is located handily to the chimney. The fuel room is but a few steps away. Near at hand also is the automatic hot water heater which assures a supply of hot water during the summer months when the furnace is not in operation.

The basement is fully excavated and has a concrete floor. To the rear is the laundry section, with two tubs and proper electrical connections for an electric washing machine. A floor drain is also provided to facilitate the work. The footings and foundation walls of the Stanton are cement blocks which can be purchased economically in any community. Brick or poured concrete may be used if desired.

Boss: Was there any evasion on his part when you asked him for the money?
Collector: The evasion was all on my part. He tried to kick me out.

An Attractive Type of a Home

ELECTRICITY BIG HELP IN KITCHEN

Abundant Light and Convenient Outlets Should Be Provided to Save Labor

The kitchen is often called the workshop of the home, and its lighting and other electrical features should be planned from a labor-saving point of view almost exclusively. At the same time there is no need to lose sight of a bright and attractive atmosphere for this important room in the home and this can easily be accomplished without in any way sacrificing its general efficiency.

First and foremost, there should be abundant light in the kitchen diffused by proper glass globes. The main source of light should come from a central ceiling fixture using 100 to 150-watt lamp.

In addition to the central fixture, it is handy and very desirable to have a bracket over the sink or work bench.

It is hardly necessary to point out that there should be a number of convenience outlets in the kitchen for attaching the electric iron, another should be placed near the work board or table.

Electrical housekeeping is not complete without the electric range. The cost of wiring for the electric range, at the time of building the house, is comparatively small. It is a good plan to instruct the electrician to provide a fair margin for future extensions, such as to garage, or sun room, or for additional convenience outlets.

STOP HEAT LOSSES

The warmth generated in the heating plant, whether it is steam, water or air, must be conveyed to the room itself before it is of value. Heat losses along the way mean added expense in generating or developing more heat to take its place.

Usually heat losses are caused by the conveyor pipes being bare or covered only with a thin asbestos paper which is not a real insulator.

Cut down the heat losses and incidentally your fuel bills, by covering the heater pipes with a thick cellular asbestos covering that becomes a real insulator.

DEMONSTRATION WITH POTTERY CLAY IS CARRIED OUT

COURTENAY, May 10.—There was a good attendance in the Agricultural Hall on Friday night, when the Women's Institute listened to a very interesting lecture and demonstration on pottery by Mrs. Margaret Grute. In a short business meeting which preceded the pottery demonstration, Mrs. Galloway, president of the Courtenay Women's Institute, reported that the recent bazaar held in the Native Sons hall had netted the very useful sum of $80. The report was well received.

With samples of clay, some of which came from Saskatchewan and others from British Columbia, Mrs. Grute shaped them into many forms of usefulness: at the same time explaining to her audience the way to go about each article desired. Mrs. Grute, whose home is at Duncan, has been making pottery for some time, and has a limited market for the products of her craft. The possibilities of pottery industry in the Comox district were discussed before the meeting adjourned.

GREAT INTEREST SHOWN IN CLAIMS

Robertson River Promises to Be Attractive Area for Many Prospectors

LAKE COWICHAN, May 10.—All prospectors and people interested in mining are discussing the lake's possibilities as a mining centre. A well-known company has shown a great deal of interest in copper claims up the Robertson River, which has assayed highly. Mr. Pearson, a veteran prospector and mining man, has been up at Robertson River most of the winter, and is greatly pleased with newly discovered fields. These claims have easy access to railway, shipping being within a few miles of the Victoria Lumber & Manufacturing Company's logging railway.

ALBERNI LOGGER KILLED BY SNAG

PORT ALBERNI, May 10.—James English, well-known resident of this district, was accidentally killed yesterday afternoon at Camp 4 of the Alberni Pacific Lumber Company, being struck by a snag during logging operations. The camp is situated about six miles down the Alberni Canal, and Mr. C. Hilton left immediately by speed boat upon receipt of the news of the accident, but was too late to render assistance. As far as can be ascertained the deceased, who was born in Ireland, left no relatives in this country. Friends of the late Mr. English believe, however, that he is survived by a sister residing either in Vancouver or Victoria. An inquest will be held this evening by Dr. A. D. Morgan, coroner.

The "Picture a Week" Idea

The simplest way to gain a priceless record of your child's most attractive years

How to take the pictures and make them interesting, with the child's best foot forward, offered parents in Special Kodak Service Booklet—send coupon

YOU do it every week-end . . . take snapshots of your children. And you gain a record that even a few years from now, you would not sell for thousands!

Janet and Mary, dimpling and wonderful, just as they are today—and will never be again.

They won't stay children much longer. The only way you can keep them so is in your memory or in pictures. In later years, you will want so much to have the pictures. You'll be sorry if you haven't them!

Do then as thousands of parents are doing. Take snapshots every week-end of your children.

Take them alone. Take them with their grandparents—with their friends.

To Help Parents Get Really Interesting Pictures

To help parents get the kind of snapshots that become more and more interesting with age, there is a new and informative book, "Taking Pictures of Your Children at Their Best". It is full of illustrations. It suggests poses, "props", lightings and backgrounds. It tells how to take pictures that show the child with its best foot forward . . . pictures that hold a thrill for you every time that you open your Kodak album.

If You Haven't a Kodak

If you haven't a camera, you can obtain a Brownie for as little as $2.25 or a Kodak as low as $5.00. Either is easy to use, either makes excellent snapshots. See them at your Kodak dealer's.

Use genuine Kodak Film in your picture-taking. It is the safe film . . . the film which made amateur picture-taking possible. Ask for it by name. Identify the genuine by its familiar yellow box.

May 18 to 25 is Take-a-Picture Week

—a week set aside by the Photo Finishers of the country to remind you of the finest picture opportunities of the year. Celebrate Take-a-Picture Week by making up some of the chances you have missed for adding to your collection of interesting snapshots.

CHAPTER XIV

There is nothing quite so satisfying and restful to a human being as the knowledge of a sly deed successfully, may brilliantly performed. It is not to be marvelled at, therefore, that both Crooked Bill and Roberta slept well that night, at breakfast neither had ever felt nor looked chipper in years, albeit, in order to accentuate his pose of abandon and despair Crooked Bill neglected to shave, had little to say during the meal and sighed gustily from time to time. He caught an early train to the city, explaining that the sooner he swept up the fragments of his scattered fortunes the better for all concerned.

Roberta motored in a little later and went at once to Glenn Hackett's office, where he prepared and she signed a formal assignment of all of her right, title and interest in and to her Uncle Tom's estate to Hackett, for and in consideration of certain moneys to be advanced to her by Hackett. The further details of saving something out of the wreck for her uncle she left to the lawyer.

"Now, then, Roberta," Hackett said when the document was signed, "you understand that this is a business deal from first to last. Not a speck of sentiment in it as far as I am concerned. While you have given me security for the funds I am to advance, it may be that I will be called upon to advance a sum in excess of the total value of your Uncle Tom's estate. Consequently it is of the utmost importance that the estate should be administered wisely and conservatively. I have looked up your lawyer at Los Algodones, Don Prudencio Alviso, and he appears to have an excellent record. Probably, but is a poor business man. If I—"

"He assures me Don Jaime Miguel Higuera is most reliable and is doing all that anybody can do to conserve the estate," Roberta hastened to assure Hackett.

"I know. But what do we know about Higuera? Nothing except what we have heard and the fact that his correspondence would indicate that he is a kindly, humorous and wonderfully obliging gentleman. But lawyers look at all things from a cold and conservative angle, and the thought occurs to me: Why is Don Jaime Miguel Higuera taking all this trouble? What do you mean to him? He is a cattle-man, so why should he bother with your sheep? My dear Bobby, I am highly suspicious of that fellow."

Bobby's lip drooped. She had not thought of Don Jaime in that light before, and her common sense warned her that there might be more than a modicum of truth in Hackett's suspicions. He saw the doubt he had planted burgeoning, and hastened to aid its growth.

"As I told you before, it is impossible for me to go to Texas to look after your affairs, Bobby, notwithstanding the privilege it would be to serve you. Unfortunately others have a prior claim on my professional services and I may not evade them. Your unfortunate uncle dare not leave New York at this time either. His creditors might think he was endeavoring to flee the country. Consequently I think it is of the utmost importance that you go to Los Algodones immediately and investigate everything thoroughly."

"But, Glenn, I don't know a thing about business, and I'm afraid it's too big an order. Quite usually I believe what, apparently decent people tell me."

"I disagree with you. You have a feminine intuition of the highest degree of development. You can sniff out a crook at sight. If you go there, get acquainted with your lawyer and Don Jaime and, after a few weeks, discover that you have absolutely no mental reservations regarding either or both. I shall think it quite safe to leave your affairs in their hands for the present, at least."

This adroit speech flattered Roberta, since it was corroborating a belief she had always entertained, i.e., that she could look through men as if they were glass. Her request for Hackett's intelligence and ability increased at once. "I'll go to Los Algodones just as soon as I can get ready," she declared.

"That's fine, Roberta." He escorted her to the elevator and upon returning to his office pressed a buzzer three times, whereupon his secretary ushered in to him from an adjoining room no less a person than Crooked Bill.

"Well, have you sold her the idea that she should go to Los Algodones?" he demanded of the lawyer.

"I have. She promised me she would go just as soon as she could get ready."

Crooked Bill rubbed his hands gleefully. Hackett handed him the assignment which Roberta had just given him, and Crooked Bill set fire to it and dropped it into Hackett's metal waste basket.

"Have you confidence in this Jaime Higuera, Mr. Latham?" Hackett queried.

"How do I know? He's a perfect stranger to me. However, his father and grandfather were both 'muy caballeros' in the old days and never cared enough about money to get it by crooked or unfair means. And I'm a great believer in heredity. I have a strong suspicion that Don Jaime is equipped with a complete set of Hibernian inner works, and I have never known a highly courageous man who was a weak man. The crooks of this world are recruited from the weakling, my boy. However, I should not worry about a man of sheep. I don't care two hoots in a hollow if they all starve to death. I'm solely interested in promoting a journey to Los Algodones, in order that she may see the other side of the picture. Don Jaime is unmarried (I've discovered that) and if he falls in love with Roberta he's fit for treason, stratagems and spoils. If she doesn't quarrel with him about that, they're bound to fall out over business, because no man ever managed a woman's business affairs without discovering in the long run that he had performed a thoroughly thankless task."

"I wish I didn't have to mix in her affairs. I dislike deception—even innocent deception, Mr. Latham."

"You ungrateful pup! Why, I've placed Bobby under a tremendous obligation to you and made it possible for you two to share a delightful secret in common—all of which is equivalent to scattering six inches of tanbark on the hard, macadamized road of true love. By pretending to lose my fortune I drive off about eighty per cent of your competitors and shoo Bobby out of her set, in which she might find other competitors for you. As a promoter I think I'm just about the bee's knees myself."

"But you're giving Don Jaime a free field."

"And why not? He's short and fat, weighing about two hundred pounds. If he isn't, the scientists are all wrong about heredity."

"I have known tall, graceful and extremely charming Irishmen, Mr. Latham."

"But the Spanish blood predominates in Higuera. At least it did in his father. They were originally Asturian, and Asturians are all medium-sized and stocky. But to return to Don Jaime. In all probability he takes a bath after the full round-up and has never seen a bathtub except in a hotel. He will have a luxuriant, Niagara Falls type of black mustache and use perfume. He will talk with a strong Spanish accent and four-fifths of his life is undoubtedly spent in his shirt-sleeve. He's just a husky cowman, I tell you. Do you see Bobby falling for a man like that?"

"No-o-o!"

"You're a suspicious Yankee, Glenn. Your motto is: 'Trust everybody, but cut the cards'."

"Well, I must be toddling along. I think I'll take on a line of United Drugs. I've had a tip that they've been quietly absorbing about twenty-five hundred chain drug stores. Meanwhile you keep picking on Roberta to get her out of town; and in order to soothe your New England conscience I'm going to spread about a hundred thousand margining a line of United Drugs for you. If the deal shows a profit by the time you marry Roberta, it will be yours. If it shows loss—send me a reasonable bill for professional services."

"As a pinch-hitter for Cupid I think you're a total ruin," Glenn Hackett declared.

"How come?"

"I'm satisfied that Roberta isn't in love with me."

"So am I. But I'm also satisfied that she thinks a thousand per cent more of you than of any man living, and if you remain indifferent to her—even let her see you out with another girl occasionally—you'll have to marry her in self-defence. Applies are most desirable when they are green, inside a six-foot barbed-wire fence and guarded by a savage bulldog." He shook his stick at Hackett. "Remember, your battle-cry is 'On to Texas!'"
